Beyond Burnout - The Search for Rest

Electrical devices aren't the only things that burn out. People and relationships do too, and often for the same reason - overload. In this digital age where we're bombarded with multiple messages requiring instant action, we're under pressure, with less time to do more. How do we survive in this? Beyond our busy lives there is a safety switch that guards against a blown brain-circuit and delivers rest and peace. You are all invited!
